

Groundbreaking New Education in Denmark: Combine Pilot Training with a Bachelor's Degree

GreyBird Pilot Academy, one of Europe's leading pilot training institutions, proudly announces the launch of an exclusive Bachelor of Business Science (BBS) degree in collaboration with South East Technological University (SETU) Carlow in Ireland. GreyBird is the only academy in Denmark offering a combination of pilot training and an academic bachelor's degree, setting a new standard for the education of future aviation managers.

An Education for the Future Managers of Aviation

The new BBS degree combines practical flight training with a solid academic foundation in business management and aviation-specific topics. The program prepares students for leadership roles in both the Danish and international aviation industries.

Flexible and International Education

Students will participate in on-site classes at SETU Carlow in Ireland and online lessons from GreyBird's theory bases in Denmark. This flexible structure allows pilots to continue their careers while completing their academic education.

CEO Statement

"We are incredibly proud to offer this unique opportunity to our students," says Jørgen Sørensen Stensgaard, CEO of GreyBird Pilot Academy. "With this bachelor's degree in collaboration with SETU Carlow, we ensure that our students are not only among the best pilots but are also well-equipped to take on leadership roles and drive innovation in the aviation sector."

About GreyBird Pilot Academy

GreyBird Pilot Academy is one of Scandinavia's largest and most innovative pilot schools. Since our founding in 2012, we have experienced rapid growth and are now a leader in pilot training across Europe, with bases in Denmark, Sweden, and Spain. We are constantly at the forefront of technological advancements and strive to be the best in the industry.

For further information, contact:

Kasper Lassen, CCO
Mobile +45 24 91 51 10
kal@greybird.dk

